| 9/13/18 (Dr. Bassem Elhassan) | Dear JP Based on his imaging I don't see the prior latissimus transfer which indicates possible rupture. Also with this significant pain that you can barely examine him I still worry about infection though his labs are normal. He is someone I would perform diagnostic arthroscopy to explore the joint cartilage and latissimus transfer and perform multiple biopsies to rule out infection. Based on the intraop finding and cultures results I will decide about his case. If cartilage is good and no infection I would revise with lower trap transfer. Cheers B | |
